VANDALIA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1837.

STATE REGISTER

The editor of this paper will leave Vandalia to-day, for the purpose of taking up his position in front of the northern and western column, with this intention. He leaves the city well assured that it is in the keeping of the choicest matter in the county, and they will not allow him also by preparing themselves to receive the same messages, which, through the agency of the newspapers, will be conveyed to them on the first day of the session—and in the fact, enough said.

The Hon. Justice M. Lewis of the Supreme Court of the United States, arrived in the city on Saturday last evening, for the purpose of attending and transacting the business of the Circuit Court at this place. This is the first term of the Court which will have been held in Illinois, at which a Judge of the Supreme Court has been established by the present system—and the presence of the Judge, as was expected by Congress but a short time since, and in accordance with the wishes of the people of this section of the State, whose gentlemen were of the opinion that the Supreme Court would not undertake the journey to Illinois for the purpose of making out the circuits of the country.

The Crystal Ball Way.—It is with the lightest spirit that we can approach the next step in parties in the Wednesday last of our esteemed fellow-citizens, Messrs. Fosdick, Dement, Spencer, and Mr. Quinlan, Assistant Engineer on the southern branch of the canal. The importance of the immediate survey of the system is now completed from the mouth of the Ohio to Vandalia. We do not intend to enter into details of the merits of this important survey. We grant that the Engineer of the Board of Public Works is the best authority in making out the details of the survey.

By the way, Governor Wetzel showed a fine face on the very day of the completion of the survey, the Engineers were treated to a dinner with good weather throughout the company. This President, then, if we may be permitted to say so, would be a fine man for the Board, and so favorably to the State's rest and celebrated corps.

The Denver Mail.—We learn from Col. Allen, a resident of Vandalia, who has the contract for carrying the Express Mail from Terre Haute to St. Louis, that he intends to commence running early in December next, in time to carry the message of the President from Terre Haute to St. Louis before he. Co. A is not certain that he will be able to make the necessary arrangements between the two points mentioned, by the time the session. He contract runs to the first of January, with the privilege of the express of commencing sooner if he could do so. The proposition to carry the message for the magnificent sketch he has already executed. But such is the uncertainty of the navigation of the Ohio, that we have no doubt the necessary pains have been taken to have Terre Haute, by the time of the session, connected on a much shorter route with Vandalia on the line of January.

We copy from the Alton papers the account given by the Mayor of the city of the tragedy recently enacted in that place. Even those who, it is feared, will be the first to be called upon to read the publication which we noticed to-day for sale at the office of the Register, and which the events of that bloody day are designed to pass on eight weeks, will condemn them more severely than they will be able to do some. Step by step went they led to the fatal precipice. It is impossible to say at what hour which will be irremediable for ages to come, the fatal step was taken. But in the morning, after the fatal deed was done, the expression then apparently, whatever may be gone, is, that it was the act of a madman.

A meeting of the citizens of Alton was held on the day of the tragedy, for the purpose of suppressing mobbing tendencies. Lovejoy's press having been destroyed, a second one was about to be established in that city. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Edwards, Specialist and Gregg of Alton. Many resolutions were adopted, and among them, one declaring that they would not discuss the policy of the Abolitionists, but that they would defend the property of the Union in free or slave property wherever it was found, and that they would put down all mobs by the strong hand of the law.

The Governor's Proclamation.—On the 15th inst. the Governor of New York published a proclamation, calling upon the citizens of that State to assemble on the 28th inst. at their several town meetings, and there consult and determine upon such measures as they may deem necessary to relieve the present embarrassed state of the country.

The Governor of Ohio has issued his call for the session of the Legislature of the 4th March, and in his proclamation he says that the object of the session is to "consider the propriety of the present condition of the banks, and to adopt such measures as may be deemed necessary to relieve the people from the embarrassments which have produced the present suspension of specie payments."

"The enslavement of Gov. Kinney," says the Galena Gazette, "is complete. Col. Wilson, and his friends, have taken possession of the Executive Office, and the Governor has been compelled to leave the premises. Such is the statement of Gov. Kinney himself, and we have no reason to doubt it."

"The enslavement of Gov. Kinney," says the Galena Gazette, "is complete. Col. Wilson, and his friends, have taken possession of the Executive Office, and the Governor has been compelled to leave the premises. Such is the statement of Gov. Kinney himself, and we have no reason to doubt it."

If by the "Democracy," the June and means the enthusiasm of Mr. Van Buren and the members of his late message, we are very much afraid that we will be left in the unpleasant circumstance above. We see announced in many that Governor REYNOLDS of Illinois has resigned his office, and that the Administration—but he highly approves of the late message of the President, and is ready to lend his aid in carrying out the views which was defended by the Conservatives at the late session of Congress.

Is it possible that any one can say on behalf of Gov. Reynolds' wish is not the man, in the circumstances, to desert his party either at the call of Congress. Gov. Reynolds is not fickle by any means. He is now a private citizen, and has been for the last two years, and has always been a firm friend of the Democracy. He is not a politician, and has never been a delegate in the House until for Alton, the last session, and during the greater part of the time as a building committee. He was chosen by the Bank of the United States.

Gov. Reynolds is a man who was the first to nominate Gen. Jackson, Gen. Ewing was the first to nominate Gen. Harrison, and Gen. Ewing is a delegate in the Legislature as much as Gov. Reynolds is Illinois. Throughout his brief career he has been a firm friend of the Democracy at the same time, and in his late term as delegate in the Legislature no man took stronger ground against the extravagant party principles given to the Bank at that session than Gen. E. remains on his old ground, but as to the rest he is not so well.

We say our readers all execute these personal remarks. We are not in the habit of mobbing them. But we cannot consent to see the opinions of leaving men of the Democratic party misrepresented by the National papers, without setting the matter right before the People.

THE CONSERVATIVES.

We copy several able articles from the Globe, some of which are on our first page. We call the particular attention of the citizens of Vandalia to the able remarks of the OPEN COALITION between the CONSERVATIVES and the FEDERAL BANK party, which has for its object the Conservatives of the City of New York, with SHARTWAT the Coil Bank Mayor, and the Federal party at their head, A DOCTRINE THE WHIG ticket, has carried for it at the polls. So much for Conservatism—so much for the Federal party to be what we have before pronounced it—but another name for Federalism. How the Democracy of New York the Lower of Congress from Illinois happened to join him per se at the late session, is a matter of which we are not informed. Mr. McKay is the only one of them that has yet addressed his constituents on the subject, and he has not seen fit to say more nor less than this: That he was always at heavy opposed to the measure, but that he thought it best to run for Congress on the popularity of its measures, and that the old parties has settled, by their votes in every previous between under such position.

Now the People ask what it is, that has thus emboldened a foreign money power secretly to establish her agents within our borders? Why is it that the Bank of the United States will Bubble at their head. It is the money power of the country, every where, that is the real enemy of the free and lar political constitution of the country. And if some other source of danger should arise, it will be found to be identical with the present. The corporate wealth and industrious labors. The tug struggle of all the lettings is found in the Bank of the United States, and criminated by the engineers. There is no doubt entertained by any of the Democracy of the State within the time required by contract.

From the above it will be seen that there is a large amount of work to be done in improvements in their county, and are disposed to undertake the work at reasonable rates. We wish them success in their county. And if some other section of the State wishes to let out a large public and industrious bidders

FOR THE MONITOR.

Mr. Editor—The following is the third section of an act entitled "An act to provide certain counties therein named," approved March 4, 1837, and relating to the fall election of county beginning at the north east corner of township forty-two in the line dividing range three and four east, in the fourth meridian, and running thence with said line dividing range three south, with the said fourth meridian to the north boundary of the State, shall form a new county by the name of FAYETTE. See page 90 of printed laws. I do not give a good one and if any man in the State can lay off the above county in any way not get pillaged, I'll give him credit for his noggin. There is some great mistake somewhere, on the above line; it should run due east to the county at all. No man can plat it on any other extent. Can any one count the even 7 miles in 6, public names, and have access in the original divides of the law. I would like you to look at them and correct the mote if you can.

[The above communication is not received in some time since, but had been a mind. We have corrected the mistake and while the law is pulled law on file in the office of the Secretary of State, and find that they correctly stated in the act. But the general draft of the line as to which the water return on, we have no knowledge of, it is not known in the files of the State Department. Ed. Mon. Sec. Informed.—Ed. Mon. Reporter.]

PROSPECTUS
YOUNG LADIES' ACADEMY
OF THE VISITATION,
KASKASKIA ILLINOIS.
St. Ellen's Hall, Georgetown, D. C.

THIS Literary Establishment is under the immediate superintendence and direction of the Sisters of the Visitation, of Georgetown, D. C. of Kaskaskia, Illinois, and of Mount Mary, founded by St. Francis of Sales in 1610, and who has on this account, been selected for the education of the pupils entrusted to their care.

The situation of the Academy is near the village of Kaskaskia, commanding on one side a full view of the Mississippi and on the other an easy, as it stands on eastern bound a ridge of hills which, on all sides, are surrounded by a considerable portion of the village. The air is not only pure and healthy, but the temperature, one of the healthiest in the Union, the air being pure and salubrious, the water limpid and agreeable, and the course of exercises such as most conducive to preservation of health and strength.

PLAN OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction, encompassing not the elements of a solid, but also of an elegant education. Geography, Reading, History, Grammar, Arithmetic, Rhetoric, Composition, Epistolary Correspondence, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Astronomy, Use of the Globes, Natural History, Moral Philosophy, Intellectual, on the Harp, Piano and Guitar, Painting in water colors, Drawing, Plain Needle work, and ornamental Needle Work, Tapestry, Lace and Bead Work, &c.

REGULATIONS.

The scholastic year commences on the second Monday in September, and is terminated by a general examination in July. The public exercises commence on the last Monday of July and continue on the following days, when the distribution of premiums, and the exhibition of premium pieces, compositions and specimens of the pupils' industry, will take place, in the presence of parents and relations, or of the Archbishop.

The schools are open every day except Sundays, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and during those ecclesiastical festivals which are not considered holy: guidance of one of the members of the community accompanies the pupils in their walks beyond the west zone of the Academy.

The spirit of emulation is excited by rewards variously applied, according to the degree of excellence attained by each pupil in the different branches of study. At the end of each month a general report detailing the behaviour, application and progress of each pupil, in the presence of all the boarders, is read in the study hall, and a ticket or premium, or a testimonial of approbation, is the just reward of the meritorious; the most distinguished place in the class and the merited presence of honor, are the rewards of conduct.

The religious exercises of the institution are those of the Catholic Church, but pupils of other denominations are received without distinction, and no one is allowed to interfere with their peculiar religious duties or practices, for the sake of order, it is required that they attend those exercises in common with the pupils in the house.

The government of health is an object of paternal attention, and the most prompt and efficacious aid in case sickness and agreeable physicians.

Regularity, neatness, cheerfulness, and decorum of manners, are the virtues which are most assessibly sanctioned, and specially attended to by the Lady Directress, and the Sisters of the Visitation; and every effort is made by them to form and inspire habits of piety, which are the best safeguard in them a solid esteem and love of virtue, but which confer a much greater value whenever over those religious systems.
